

Honoring Women's History Month

The Fly Girls Revolt

Author Eileen Bjorkman, retired U.S. Air Force colonel

The book tells the story of women military aviators who paved the way for the 1993 policy that finally allowed women to fly in combat.*

At the Oshkosh AirVenture, author Eileen Bjorkman signed her book, "The Fly Girls Revolt," for Audra and Zoe MacDicken, daughters of Kelly Hanes, SPEEA co-director, Ed Wells Partnership.

Want to hear more?

Check out Boeing inSite to see the EWP Live! recording from Feb. 8

Also at Ed Wells Partnership

Check out book clubs co-hosted by Boeing Women in Leadership (BWIL)

edwells.web.boeing.com

*Fewer than 5% of military and commercial pilots are women